

Lisa Montanaro

Where Success Takes Center Stage

They say that “Good things come in small packages” and Lisa Montanaro is walking, talking proof that this adage is true! As the founder and CEO of Lisa Montanaro Global Enterprises, LLC, she operates a coaching, consulting, and speaking firm serving clients across the globe from Northern California. A dynamo in high heels, she’s an accomplished author, engaging speaker, certified productivity consultant, and motivating team development and peak performance coach. Lisa has a proven track record of empowering teams and individuals and igniting productivity since 2002. Her clients include CEOs, managers, business owners, and organizational leaders who are looking for the answer to the question, “How do I live a productive and happy life while also enjoying, and thriving in, my career?” Lisa helps clients step into Center Stage Success.

For over 20 years, Lisa has shared her expertise on productivity, life-work integration, and cultivating a happier and more motivating workplace culture. Audiences have related so much to her strategies, stories, and lessons that attendees have wanted to take her back with them to the office. Lisa provides a unique perspective on building habits and systems that create long-term measurable results.

Lisa has published in numerous online and print publications, and is a frequent guest for television, podcasts, webinars, and radio shows. Known for her combination of warmth, humor, and know-how, Lisa delivers straight talk in a manner that is informative and entertaining. Author of the books The Ultimate Life Organizer and DECIDE to be Organized: An Empowering Process for Change, Lisa has a bachelor’s degree in speech communication, psychology, and political science, and a Juris Doctorate degree in Law. In 2007, she became an inaugural Certified Organizing and Productivity Consultant (CPO).

Before embarking on her journey as a coach, consultant, and speaker, Lisa was a performer, an instructor and interpreter at a high school for deaf students, practiced employment and labor relations law and was a law school professor and higher education administrator. Hailing originally from New York, since 2012 Lisa has enjoyed life with her veterinarian husband and their rescue dog in beautiful Northern California.

Lisa Montanaro Global Enterprises, LLC
Davis, CA
(530) 302-5306
Lisa@LisaMontanaro.com